First Project Description:

My project is called the leave card system for employees in an Excel Application. This is to compute the vacation leave, sick leave, and many more into their salary to minus it. My Human Resource Management wants to program the list of sick leave, vacation leave, and many other leaves for how many days. Then to write what date they leave and who is in charge of publishing it. It took many days to research on YouTube and the internet to find out some possibilities, then it was worth it, that Human Resource Management relieved their problem because it is hard to look at the paper rather than typing it.
